

Hertzler Systems Inc.®
Turning Data into Knowledge

Job Description

Job title: Software Developer
FSLB Category: Hourly/Salary
Department: Development
Reports to: V.P. of Product Development

Overview

Hertzler Systems Inc., a leading software solutions provider, is seeking a full-time Software Developer. The Software Developer is responsible for designing, creating, and testing new software features and products. This position requires minimal travel.

Skills needed for Software Development

Excellent verbal and written communication skills
Proven ability to meet deadlines and ability to multi-task
Detail-oriented, thorough, organized, and systematic
Open-minded, customer-focused, team player
Highly analytical, self-motivated, and creative
Knowledge of programming and programming practices
Aptitude for problem solving
Project management
User interface design

Technical Skills needed

Visual Studio, C#, ASP.NET, SQL (Oracle, SQL Server, and MySQL), Web Services, XML, ADO

Job Description

Design, create, and test new software products and features
Mobile/Tablet app development
Help write and maintain test procedures, scripts, and data sets for software products
Execute test scripts, troubleshoot, and document software defects during testing
Establish and implement repeatable testing procedures for software products, and document results
Assist with internal training of Hertzler employees when needed
Coordinate with other members of the Development team
Work on special projects as required
Other duties as required

Reason Needed / Justification

The Software Developer helps ensure that Hertzler Systems maintains the most advanced data collection and analysis software in the industry. Software Developers are an essential part of our product development cycle.

How to apply

You can submit an electronic resume via email to hr@hertzl.com referencing which position you are applying for.